

Pregnancy loss can be isolating

In the UK,

- ☉ One in every four pregnancies ends in a miscarriage.
(The Miscarriage society)
- ☉ One per cent of pregnancies are ectopic.
(The Miscarriage society)
- ☉ 1800 pregnancies are terminated each year due to fetal abnormalities
(A.R.C)
- ☉ 6200 babies each year are stillborn or die in the first 4 weeks of life.
(Sands)

Every experience of pregnancy loss is individual, but whenever it happens, good support is vital to help families come to terms with the loss of a much wanted baby.

'Ripples Go a Long Way'

When a stone splashes into a pond, ripples spread to the very edge of the pond, most intensive at the centre and less towards the edges.

After a while, the surface of the pond returns to look the same, but the stone is always under the surface, the pond will never be the same again.

When pregnancy loss occurs, the ripples are felt most intensively closest to the loss, and by those people closest to it, but ripples go a long way. After a while, life may return to look the same, but the loss is always there, and those affected by it will never be the same again.

You are not alone

The Splash Project offers help to those who have experienced the loss of a baby and feel isolated, because those closest to them are not physically nearby, or they do not understand how it feels.

It can take years for these feelings of loneliness to wear off. Whether the loss was days ago or years ago, any and all individuals or families who have been affected by a pregnancy loss and the death of a baby are welcome to seek advice, support and help, by contacting us.
